

You've discovered a rare 4-in-1 combination.

1. Journalistic storytelling increases the ability of content marketing to influence audiences.
2. When your messages contain sophisticated yet subtle direct response copywriting persuasion techniques, your audience becomes eager to buy from you.
3. A copywriter with a commission-only, face-to-face sales background knows how to increase results when writing to generate leads and sales. He also understands the psychology necessary to soothe objections and roadblocks – including those posed by decision committees.
4. An experienced IT and Security technician explains the true benefits users receive from product features in easily understood terms.
